

IMMIGRANTS ARE A VITAL PART OF MINNESOTA'S FUTURE

Just as we came together from different places and races to build Minnesota in past decades, a strong future for our state includes immigrants

Immigrant workers and business owners grow Minnesota's economy

480,000 immigrants reside in Minnesota. Immigrants work in low-wage, middle-wage, and higher-wage jobs in sectors across our state's economy.

11% of Minnesota's workers are immigrants, including:

11% of Main Street business owners in Minnesota are immigrants, operating storefront shops that help keep downtown areas vibrant

27% of nursing assistants

21% of chefs and head cooks

24% of software developers

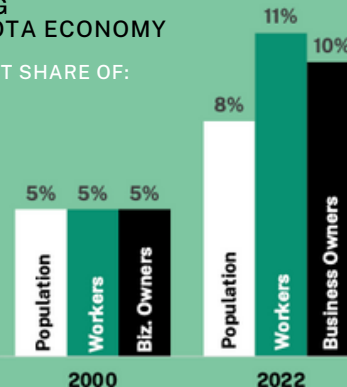

Immigrant workers and business owners generate $41 billion of economic output in Minnesota. Immigrant contribution to GDP is about the same as immigrant share of the labor force.

Immigration increases opportunity for Minnesotans

When immigrants move to Minnesota, the economy grows. That doesn't mean fewer jobs, it means more jobs: there are more consumers, more workers, and more business owners. Study after study shows there is no fixed number of jobs in a state. Immigration creates opportunities that benefit U.S.-born workers too.

IMMIGRANTS ARE PART OF A GROWING MINNESOTA ECONOMY

IMMIGRANT SHARE OF:

As Minnesotans age, we'll need more workers

As our population ages, new immigrants help keep our economy growing at a sustainable rate. Immigrants help meet growing needs for health care, home care, and supportive services that are key for older Minnesotans to have a dignified retirement.

Some people try to scapegoat immigrants to keep us divided. We don't have to fall for it.

After decades of stagnating wages, today wage growth is starting to move in the right direction. We know how to create a good economy for workers. It requires uniting around policy choices like investments in infrastructure, manufacturing, and our care economy with strong labor standards. Regardless of race or country of birth, we all do better when we unite for policies that grow jobs and wages.